

So Happy

/D                    /                    /

/D                    C                    /G                    A                    /D                    Em                    /G                    /
 1Yesterday's failure had a great idea, worked long and hard and made success.                    At 2 boy & the girl had always been alone,                    unsure of each other                    when they met                    They

/D                    Em                    /G                    A                    /D                    Em                    /
 long last he was happy each and every day, everything he'd ever wanted seemed to saw each other                    again & again, she asked him to stay with her and

/G                    A                    C                    /                    /2/4                    /4/4 A                    G                    /A                    /D                    A                    /
 come his way.                    And he was happy,                    happy,                    happy, so happy, so he said yes                    Then they were happy,                    happy,                    happy, so happy, so

/G                    /A                    G                    /D                    /                    /
 happy.                    So happy with the new life that came.                    The happy.                    So happy as their lives went by.                    The

/D                    C                    /G                    A                    /D                    Em                    /G                    /
 3 lonely old tramp had just reached sixty two,                    so cold, so hungry, asking why?                    Why
 4 long lost friend came across him a- gain, said I'm really glad that I ran into you                    I'm

/D                    Em                    /G                    A                    /D                    Em                    /
 do I go on living every painful day?                    I know that nothin' better 's ever rich & successful, but I'm so alone, what I'd give to find the                    friendship that we

/G                    A                    C                    /                    /2/4                    /4/4 A                    G                    /A                    /D                    A                    / coming my way.                    And he was wishing,                    wishing, just wishing, just wishing just two once knew.                    Then they were happy                    happy,                    happy, so happy, so

/G                    /A                    G                    /D                    /                    /
 wishing.                    Wishing that his life would pass by.                    A happy.                    So happy as their time went by.                    Your

/D                    C                    /G                    A                    /D                    Em                    /G                    /
 5 life today may seem hopeless, & sad,                    feeling you've got no luck at all.

/D                    Em                    /G                    A                    /D                    Em                    /
 Bleeding to death, slowly going mad, just wait a little longer,                    you could

/G                    A                    C                    /                    /2/4                    /4/4 A                    G                    /A                    /D                    A                    /
 be so glad.                    You could be happy,                    happy,                    happy, so happy, so

/G                    /A                    G                    /D                    /A                    C                    /D                    /
 happy.                    So happy you waited for your life,                    so happy you waited for your life.                    So

/A                    G                    /D                    /A                    C                    /G                    //
 happy that you waited for life,                    so happy that you waited for your life.